LIFE IS COMPLICATED,
VAULT IS SIMPLE.

The new standard in personal insurance.

Everything we do from building superior insurance products to interacting with our customers, is just that: personal. Our business is about empowering people to live spirited, passionate, and fulfilled lives, and we're deeply committed to creating an unrivaled experience for our agents and our customers. Our mission is to create the perfect balance between living life and protecting it, and where the status quo doesn't cut it, we're rethinking insurance.

Easier to do business with.

Insurance should feel intuitive and direct. At Vault we work obsessively to make this a reality. We're constantly thinking about how the technology we build saves customers time - like simplified underwriting and billing processes for a less cumbersome experience. Don't hunt around for a chat or an email, call a real person anytime if that's easier.

The luxury of support for all.

Simply put, Vault is protection done in a new way - the broadest coverage on the market today, with real humans, prioritizing real lives in the background. Customers will feel supported by Vault before a claim is ever filed. After all, we're here to make their lives less stressful, not more complex.

The tenacity of a startup with backing you know and trust.

Vault insurance is backed by significant financial and operational support from Allied World, a global insurance and reinsurance company. Our team is led by top industry veterans focused on developing a better holistic experience for customers, because we believe you can have it all.

Lewis sent a note to his claims adjuster, Brian:

"Thank you for such great customer service, my agent told me I would be impressed with how Vault responds and boy that was understatement. After being with other companies you have reset the benchmark."

- LEWIS NERMAN

Dan wrote this to his broker:

"I do not know what divine wisdom led you to recommend Vault Insurance for our homeowners coverage, but do it for all your clients... As you know we recently had a water leak which resulted in some major, horrific damage. The Vault claims team has been unbelievably professional and customer oriented. Thank you."
